

SENATOR DeCAMP: Mr. President, the normal inclination would be to oppose the amendment but I am not going to take that approach. I think this is a reasonable proposal Senator Burrows has brought up, and as long as he is willing to make it somewhat reasonable, I would go for it and I put 1985 and, Bill, I will explain why. Very simple, remember we are not passing the bill with the emergency clause or anything so it won't even get into effect, won't even get into effect until probably the end, basically, the end of or half way through this tourist season and you have a certain amount of start-up costs so the start-up cost, computerization, all this thing, now you are terminating it basically then after one year really rather than two because then you are stopping right when you get going on the next tourist season. You are stopping what, July 1st or something like that. You are stopping right when you get it going. So if you will settle for '85, by golly, I will just go for it and I think the rest of the body would and I think it will set a precedent. If we put a tax on, let's put a deadline when they come off, test them out, this kind of thing. Does that make sense to you?

SPEAKER MARVEL: Are you asking...Senator DeCamp, are you asking Senator Burrows a question? Senator Burrows, do you yield?

SENATOR BURROWS: Yes, would you split the difference, Senator DeCamp? That is a long time.

SPEAKER MARVEL: Sorry but we are not in the bargaining process. Senator DeCamp, do you have a question of Senator Burrows?

SENATOR DeCAMP: How about '84? No, no, you have got a certain amount of start-up cost on any bill. You are going to waste all of that money unless you have it at least tested to see whether you get a tourism program going, whether you can really make it move. I think '85 is reasonable. '84 would be the bottom line.

SENATOR BURROWS: I will buy the '84.

SENATOR DeCAMP: Change my amendment to '84. God, I will probably get killed by everybody for this. Okay, I move the '84.

SPEAKER MARVEL: What is the motion before the House?
